

Curriculum Vitae
BELLO Semiu Musa
(Associate Professor of Mass Communication)

PhD (Media and Communication), M.Sc (Mass Communication) Masters Degree (Media Resources Management), B.A (Hons) (Mass Communication), HND (Mass Communication)

Brief Resume

A young, energetic, visionary academic and astute researcher in media and communication for 17 productive years, Semiu is a self-motivated and enthusiastic media and communication teacher, trainer, researcher and scholar whose research interest covers print journalism studies, health and development communication, media literacy, mass media and society, communication theories, mass media research, new/digital media and public relations. I have graciously enjoyed a successive and non-stop academic sojourn of reading, writing and researching in mass communication, leading to the award of five higher academic degrees between 1997 and 2015 in Nigeria and abroad.

With determination and strong vitality, I significantly proved my research ability and academic ingenuity during my PhD scholarship at the University of Canterbury, New Zealand, where I made the record of the first candidate to complete a PhD thesis in two years in the Department of Media and Communication and the entire College of Arts. More importantly, in 17 years of academic career, I have successfully published about (60) academic papers in reputable national and international journals and I have been appreciably cited on Google Scholar, Semantic Scholar. I also enjoy virtual presence on ResearchGate, Academic.edu, everipedia and through my URL: www.semiubello.com. Dr. Semiu Bello has published creditably well across the field of Media and Communication with particular emphasis in the field of health and development communication. I now connect my knowledge and skills in the field of health and development communication, and mass communication in general, with community development by leading an NGO, The Regenerate Initiative (Tri) for Community Health and Youth Development (www.regenerateinitiative.com).

I am currently serving as a member of the Editorial Board of two reputable international journals in Malaysia and India respectively and I review research articles for many journals in Nigeria and abroad; including a Sage journal: Global Health Promotion.

My key skills

- Excellent pedagogical experience in teaching in the field of media and communication
- Excellent research skills and experience in the field of media and communication
